

LOUISVILLE DAILY DEMOCRAT.

VOLUME XIX.

Daily Democrat.

TERMS OF THE DAILY DEMOCRAT
TO THE COUNTRY.

ONE YEAR.....$6 00
SIX MONTHS.....$3 50
ONE MONTH.....$1 25

LOCAL AGENTS WANTED.

We desire to procure the services of a local agent in every Post-office District in the State. Will our friends act or procure services of some efficient person in their behalf? Believing that the circulation of the Democrat may be materially extended, we make this appeal to our friends in its behalf.

WE ARE AUTHORIZED TO ANNOUNCE THE HON. NAT. WOLFE AS A CANDIDATE FOR CONGRESS IN THIS DISTRICT AT THE ENSUING AUGUST ELECTION.

WE ARE AUTHORIZED TO ANNOUNCE THE HON. ROBERT MALLERY AS A CANDIDATE FOR CONGRESS IN THIS DISTRICT AT THE ENSUING AUGUST ELECTION.

Wichelman's Panorama of the War is at Madison, Indiana.

The races over the Woodlawn course, near this city, have been very well attended during the past week. There was some good trotting and pacing done, and a large amount of money changed hands. The races closed yesterday. The summary will be found to yesterday's paper.

Wood's theater is closed for the season. Nashville is supporting two theaters at present. Mr. Lingham, Mrs. Barnes and Mr. Stewart are playing at one, and Mr. Gossett, a young tragedian, Miss Mary Mitchell and Mr. Lefevre will be doing the heavy acting at Old-Fellow Hall.

Wichelman's Panorama of the War is at Indianapolis.

This is the Sabbath day, and our people will attend church—some for fashion's sake, some for interest, and some for the love of the house of God. Preachers and people forgot that civil war is raging, and that, owing to the wickedness of man, armies are lying to-day watching each other, ready to commence the work of death—arrows of destruction, too, who ought to sit at peace. There has been something horribly wrong in preachers and people, that Heaven should have brought upon us this calamity. The Bible says "blessed are the peacemakers," but such is the nature of this conflict that it is almost treason to speak of peace, since war is a necessity. We admit the deplorable fact, but it is a fact that ought to be a subject of solemn consideration with the good people of this country why this should be the fact. The preachers, the preaching, the ministry (I don't, all failed to save us from this most unwise of all wars. How much of all these has been smothered? How much of them hypocrisy? How much of them self-righteousness? How much of them appear unto men? Certainly there must have been a vast amount of evil or the ruler of Nations would not have turned us into His face from a people he once blessed. We read many of the appeals for a day of fasting and prayer; but they were all directed more or less with the suggestion to pray for other people's sins. Better begin at home and pray for yourself; pray where none but God sees and hears; wait in the spirit of grace and in the streets. If the good people will not reform this war will cease; for ten thousand men Sodoma would have been saved; how we not; at least, ten times less in the United States of America?

We had occasion, a day or two ago, to consult some of the late census publications, and applied at the Mechanics' Library, where we supposed of course they were to be found. The Librarian informed us that there was nothing of the sort in the Library. There was not even a copy of the Census Abstract, which was printed last year, nor a copy of the last report of the Patent Office. As a large number of copies of each of these works are placed at the disposal of members of Congress, we would suggest that an application be made to the Hon. Robert Mallery for them. Of the Agricultural Report of the Patent Office, 200,000 were ordered to be printed by Congress for its distribution by members. We do not know the number of census reports that were ordered, but presume it was sufficient for the supply of all the public libraries at least. These works are not offered for sale, and the only mode by which libraries can be supplied is the one we have indicated.

We received from the Patent Office the Agricultural Report of 1851—the last one printed—last fall, and the Census Abstract two or three months ago.

As the Census Reports of 1850 were also wanting at the library, we would suggest that measures be taken to supply the deficiency.

The Republicans in Indiana and Illinois have taken advantage of a clause in their Constitution, requiring two thirds to make a quorum, to break up legislative bodies by adjourning themselves. It was not thought when the provision was made in the Constitution that any party would ever make such a use of it. So it is, and it is an ominous symptom of the times. Suppose that no party should get two thirds of their legislators elected, and would rather split than not. What say our Lincoln friends? We have our mind's eye on several leading spirits who would be turbulent if they dared. But, as far as the old guard is concerned, we heartily wish that we would like to exchange for Valdighim. Come, gentlemen, here's a chance to regain your jardins lost; to go home to your friends and to your kind. Show your faith by your works.

Birds of a feather flock together.

If any one had been assured that there were any Union men in the South, this editor would have despaired it stonily. They don't dare to be turbulent, though, let those observe who feel an affection for Southern liberty.

Private letters from New Orleans do not confirm the accounts of a heavy garrison at Port Hudson. They broke under the first fire, through which the 17th New York pushed on, capturing the gunners and the negroes.

But the danger of that direction may be removed by a prompt sweep a few patriots of Uncle Abe. We have no such pretensions, but would rather share them than not.

What say our Lincoln friends? We have our mind's eye on several leading spirits who would be turbulent if they dared.

But, as far as the old guard is concerned, we heartily wish that we would like to exchange for Valdighim.

Come, gentlemen, here's a chance to regain your jardins lost; to go home to your friends and to your kind.

Show your faith by your works.

Birds of a feather flock together.

There seems to be a most striking agreement between the organs of the Union party and the Democratic party. The former are "anding order No. 89" on the skies, whilst it is unanimously execrated by the latter.

Even the Republicans of Cincinnati say it is resounding virtually. We have some better R-publicans in this State than there are in the free States.

PROMOTIONS.—Corporal T. P. Young, Jr., of the Fourth Kentucky infantry, has been promoted to a Lieutenant. Also, private Richard Seal, of Hewitt's battery, to a Second Lieutenant of same. Both Davierville boys.

Lieutenant Colonel S. Harney, of the Thirtieth Kentucky infantry, has been commissioned as Colonel of the regiment, in place of Colonel Dent, who resigned on account of feeble health.

A riot between the white transients and the negroes in Washington, on Wednesday night, became so serious that over 100 hundred arrests were made.

Fatal rumors of a defalcation on the part of an ex-State officer at Frankfort are current. The extent of the robbery of the State is not yet known by our Generals. The Confederates seem confident, and Johnston is taking his time. It is Vickburg was in so much danger of being captured, and had so little provisions and ammunition, Johnston would have tried to relieve it before this time. We may take it for granted he is not idle. He may be willing to let our army waste in time and strength as long as possible upon a place the strength of which he knows better than we do. We shall see after awhile. The place must fall some time, if it cannot be relieved, for ammunition and provisions will not last always.

Fatal rumors of a defalcation on the part of an ex-State officer at Frankfort are current. The extent of the robbery of the State is not yet known by our Generals. The Confederates seem confident, and Johnston is taking his time. It is Vickburg was in so much

danger of being captured, and had so little provisions and ammunition, Johnston would have tried to relieve it before this time. We may take it for granted he is not idle. He may be willing to let our army waste in time and strength as long as possible upon a place the strength of which he knows better than we do. We shall see after awhile. The place must fall some time, if it cannot be relieved, for ammunition and provisions will not last always.

Fatal rumors of a defalcation on the part of an ex-State officer at Frankfort are current. The extent of the robbery of the State is not yet known by our Generals. The Confederates seem confident, and Johnston is taking his time. It is Vickburg was in so much

danger of being captured, and had so little provisions and ammunition, Johnston would have tried to relieve it before this time. We may take it for granted he is not idle. He may be willing to let our army waste in time and strength as long as possible upon a place the strength of which he knows better than we do. We shall see after awhile. The place must fall some time, if it cannot be relieved, for ammunition and provisions will not last always.

Fatal rumors of a defalcation on the part of an ex-State officer at Frankfort are current. The extent of the robbery of the State is not yet known by our Generals. The Confederates seem confident, and Johnston is taking his time. It is Vickburg was in so much

danger of being captured, and had so little provisions and ammunition, Johnston would have tried to relieve it before this time. We may take it for granted he is not idle. He may be willing to let our army waste in time and strength as long as possible upon a place the strength of which he knows better than we do. We shall see after awhile. The place must fall some time, if it cannot be relieved, for ammunition and provisions will not last always.

Fatal rumors of a defalcation on the part of an ex-State officer at Frankfort are current. The extent of the robbery of the State is not yet known by our Generals. The Confederates seem confident, and Johnston is taking his time. It is Vickburg was in so much

danger of being captured, and had so little provisions and ammunition, Johnston would have tried to relieve it before this time. We may take it for granted he is not idle. He may be willing to let our army waste in time and strength as long as possible upon a place the strength of which he knows better than we do. We shall see after awhile. The place must fall some time, if it cannot be relieved, for ammunition and provisions will not last always.

Fatal rumors of a defalcation on the part of an ex-State officer at Frankfort are current. The extent of the robbery of the State is not yet known by our Generals. The Confederates seem confident, and Johnston is taking his time. It is Vickburg was in so much

danger of being captured, and had so little provisions and ammunition, Johnston would have tried to relieve it before this time. We may take it for granted he is not idle. He may be willing to let our army waste in time and strength as long as possible upon a place the strength of which he knows better than we do. We shall see after awhile. The place must fall some time, if it cannot be relieved, for ammunition and provisions will not last always.

Fatal rumors of a defalcation on the part of an ex-State officer at Frankfort are current. The extent of the robbery of the State is not yet known by our Generals. The Confederates seem confident, and Johnston is taking his time. It is Vickburg was in so much

danger of being captured, and had so little provisions and ammunition, Johnston would have tried to relieve it before this time. We may take it for granted he is not idle. He may be willing to let our army waste in time and strength as long as possible upon a place the strength of which he knows better than we do. We shall see after awhile. The place must fall some time, if it cannot be relieved, for ammunition and provisions will not last always.

Fatal rumors of a defalcation on the part of an ex-State officer at Frankfort are current. The extent of the robbery of the State is not yet known by our Generals. The Confederates seem confident, and Johnston is taking his time. It is Vickburg was in so much

danger of being captured, and had so little provisions and ammunition, Johnston would have tried to relieve it before this time. We may take it for granted he is not idle. He may be willing to let our army waste in time and strength as long as possible upon a place the strength of which he knows better than we do. We shall see after awhile. The place must fall some time, if it cannot be relieved, for ammunition and provisions will not last always.

Fatal rumors of a defalcation on the part of an ex-State officer at Frankfort are current. The extent of the robbery of the State is not yet known by our Generals. The Confederates seem confident, and Johnston is taking his time. It is Vickburg was in so much

danger of being captured, and had so little provisions and ammunition, Johnston would have tried to relieve it before this time. We may take it for granted he is not idle. He may be willing to let our army waste in time and strength as long as possible upon a place the strength of which he knows better than we do. We shall see after awhile. The place must fall some time, if it cannot be relieved, for ammunition and provisions will not last always.

Fatal rumors of a defalcation on the part of an ex-State officer at Frankfort are current. The extent of the robbery of the State is not yet known by our Generals. The Confederates seem confident, and Johnston is taking his time. It is Vickburg was in so much

danger of being captured, and had so little provisions and ammunition, Johnston would have tried to relieve it before this time. We may take it for granted he is not idle. He may be willing to let our army waste in time and strength as long as possible upon a place the strength of which he knows better than we do. We shall see after awhile. The place must fall some time, if it cannot be relieved, for ammunition and provisions will not last always.

Fatal rumors of a defalcation on the part of an ex-State officer at Frankfort are current. The extent of the robbery of the State is not yet known by our Generals. The Confederates seem confident, and Johnston is taking his time. It is Vickburg was in so much

danger of being captured, and had so little provisions and ammunition, Johnston would have tried to relieve it before this time. We may take it for granted he is not idle. He may be willing to let our army waste in time and strength as long as possible upon a place the strength of which he knows better than we do. We shall see after awhile. The place must fall some time, if it cannot be relieved, for ammunition and provisions will not last always.

Fatal rumors of a defalcation on the part of an ex-State officer at Frankfort are current. The extent of the robbery of the State is not yet known by our Generals. The Confederates seem confident, and Johnston is taking his time. It is Vickburg was in so much

danger of being captured, and had so little provisions and ammunition, Johnston would have tried to relieve it before this time. We may take it for granted he is not idle. He may be willing to let our army waste in time and strength as long as possible upon a place the strength of which he knows better than we do. We shall see after awhile. The place must fall some time, if it cannot be relieved, for ammunition and provisions will not last always.

Fatal rumors of a defalcation on the part of an ex-State officer at Frankfort are current. The extent of the robbery of the State is not yet known by our Generals. The Confederates seem confident, and Johnston is taking his time. It is Vickburg was in so much

danger of being captured, and had so little provisions and ammunition, Johnston would have tried to relieve it before this time. We may take it for granted he is not idle. He may be willing to let our army waste in time and strength as long as possible upon a place the strength of which he knows better than we do. We shall see after awhile. The place must fall some time, if it cannot be relieved, for ammunition and provisions will not last always.

Fatal rumors of a defalcation on the part of an ex-State officer at Frankfort are current. The extent of the robbery of the State is not yet known by our Generals. The Confederates seem confident, and Johnston is taking his time. It is Vickburg was in so much

danger of being captured, and had so little provisions and ammunition, Johnston would have tried to relieve it before this time. We may take it for granted he is not idle. He may be willing to let our army waste in time and strength as long as possible upon a place the strength of which he knows better than we do. We shall see after awhile. The place must fall some time, if it cannot be relieved, for ammunition and provisions will not last always.

Fatal rumors of a defalcation on the part of an ex-State officer at Frankfort are current. The extent of the robbery of the State is not yet known by our Generals. The Confederates seem confident, and Johnston is taking his time. It is Vickburg was in so much

danger of being captured, and had so little provisions and ammunition, Johnston would have tried to relieve it before this time. We may take it for granted he is not idle. He may be willing to let our army waste in time and strength as long as possible upon a place the strength of which he knows better than we do. We shall see after awhile. The place must fall some time, if it cannot be relieved, for ammunition and provisions will not last always.

Fatal rumors of a defalcation on the part of an ex-State officer at Frankfort are current. The extent of the robbery of the State is not yet known by our Generals. The Confederates seem confident, and Johnston is taking his time. It is Vickburg was in so much

danger of being captured, and had so little provisions and ammunition, Johnston would have tried to relieve it before this time. We may take it for granted he is not idle. He may be willing to let our army waste in time and strength as long as possible upon a place the strength of which he knows better than we do. We shall see after awhile. The place must fall some time, if it cannot be relieved, for ammunition and provisions will not last always.

Fatal rumors of a defalcation on the part of an ex-State officer at Frankfort are current. The extent of the robbery of the State is not yet known by our Generals. The Confederates seem confident, and Johnston is taking his time. It is Vickburg was in so much

danger of being captured, and had so little provisions and ammunition, Johnston would have tried to relieve it before this time. We may take it for granted he is not idle. He may be willing to let our army waste in time and strength as long as possible upon a place the strength of which he knows better than we do. We shall see after awhile. The place must fall some time, if it cannot be relieved, for ammunition and provisions will not last always.

Fatal rumors of a defalcation on the part of an ex-State officer at Frankfort are current. The extent of the robbery of the State is not yet known by our Generals. The Confederates seem confident, and Johnston is taking his time. It is Vickburg was in so much

danger of being captured, and had so little provisions and ammunition, Johnston would have tried to relieve it before this time. We may take it for granted he is not idle. He may be willing to let our army waste in time and strength as long as possible upon a place the strength of which he knows better than we do. We shall see after awhile. The place must fall some time, if it cannot be relieved, for ammunition and provisions will not last always.

Fatal rumors of a defalcation on the part of an ex-State officer at Frankfort are current. The extent of the robbery of the State is not yet known by our Generals. The Confederates seem confident, and Johnston is taking his time. It is Vickburg was in so much

danger of being captured, and had so little provisions and ammunition, Johnston would have tried to relieve it before this time. We may take it for granted he is not idle. He may be willing to let our army waste in time and strength as long as possible upon a place the strength of which he knows better than we do. We shall see after awhile. The place must fall some time, if it cannot be relieved, for ammunition and provisions will not last always.

Fatal rumors of a defalcation on the part of an ex-State officer at Frankfort are current. The extent of the robbery of the State is not yet known by our Generals. The Confederates seem confident, and Johnston is taking his time. It is Vickburg was in so much

danger of being captured, and had so little provisions and ammunition, Johnston would have tried to relieve it before this time. We may take it for granted he is not idle. He may be willing to let our army waste in time and strength as long as possible upon a place the strength of which he knows better than we do. We shall see after awhile. The place must fall some time, if it cannot be relieved, for ammunition and provisions will not last always.

Fatal rumors of a defalcation on the part of an ex-State officer at Frankfort are current. The extent of the robbery of the State is not yet known by our Generals. The Confederates seem confident, and Johnston is taking his time. It is Vickburg was in so much

danger of being captured, and had so little provisions and ammunition, Johnston would have tried to relieve it before this time. We may take it for granted he is not idle. He may be willing to let our army waste in time and strength as long as possible upon a place the strength of which he knows better than we do. We shall see after awhile. The place must fall some time, if it cannot be relieved, for ammunition and provisions will not last always.

Fatal rumors of a defalcation on the part of an ex-State officer at Frankfort are current. The extent of the robbery of the State is not yet known by our Generals. The Confederates seem confident, and Johnston is taking his time. It is Vickburg was in so much

danger of being captured, and had so little provisions and ammunition, Johnston would have tried to relieve it before this time. We may take it for granted he is not idle. He may be willing to let our army waste in time and strength as long as possible upon a place the strength of which he knows better than we do. We shall see after awhile. The place must fall some time, if it cannot be relieved, for ammunition and provisions will not last always.

Fatal rumors of a defalcation on the part of an ex-State officer at Frankfort are current. The extent of the robbery of the State is not yet known by our Generals. The Confederates seem confident, and Johnston is taking his time. It is Vickburg was in so much

danger of being captured, and had so little provisions and ammunition, Johnston would have tried to relieve it before this time. We may take it for granted he is not idle. He may be willing to let our army waste in time and strength as long as possible upon a place the strength of which he knows better than we do. We shall see after awhile. The place must fall some time, if it cannot be relieved, for ammunition and provisions will not last always.

Fatal rumors of a defalcation on the part of an ex-State officer at Frankfort are current. The extent of the robbery of

